Burglars Frightened When Man Is Called

Two men were frightened from the premises of Mrs. McAllister, who conducts a store opposite the plant of the Blue Moon Hosiery Company, at Croydon, at midnight Thursday night.

When the two intruders were seen they were about to enter the window. Mrs. McAllister's screams frightened them away, but a call was sent for Officer H. Lincoln Hughes, of Bensalem Township.

When Hughes arrived nothing could be seen of the men, although a thorough search of the town was made. Some of the residents reported the two were seen running in the direction of the railroad tracks, but even in that locality they were not apprehended.

Our Carnival

This way folks, ladies and gents,

We have some things here for a very few cents.

For one thin dime or two whole jits

You get a chance on anything and we hope it fits.

Kiddie Kars and blankets, percolators, too.

Field glasses, parasols or what-have-you;

Suit cases, silver-ware, manicure sets.

Napkins to keep the gravy off your Sunday vest.

Traveling bags, bridge lamps and fancy clocks.

There's toasters, roasters and coasters galore.

Every time you take a chance you've gotta take more.

We've a hot dog stand going full blast.

With or without mustard and onions on the half.

There is no use denying the ladies look neat.

Putting plenty pepper pot upon the puppies' feet.

Don't pass up the Lindy game, a dime on number one

Will take your jack away from you without the use of guns.

And knocking down the bottles with balls three for a dime

Will help to fill our coffers and pass away your time.

A fish-pond is there to test your skill.

And you can bet the wide wet world, you can get your fill.

A piece of silver tied to the line

MAY get the fish biting two at a time.

For one small jit, a half a dime.

You may have a chance on candy so fine

That the girl friend on tasting and finding it right

Will never again have a reason to fight.

If you find these games slow and want some real action.

You may win a whole dollar for just a small fraction.

Just stand around, of course with a ticket.

And in a few moments—off goes the wicket.

There's ice cream and fancy work, kerchiefs and socks;

Dollies, centerpieces, and lots of what-not.

The ladies are helping us, Lor' bless 'em all,

Why we've got them working inside of a stall.

Selling the tickets and spinning the wheels.

Making a racket and letting out squeals.

We're working all evening and staying up late,

For a home of our own in 1928.

BUCKS CO. HAS CASE OF INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Medical Director Makes Suggestion That Large Gatherings Be Avoided

NO REASON FOR FEAR

Infantile paralysis has been found in the township an eight year old boy suffering from what appears to be a mild attack.

The victim is James Levergood, son of Lester Levergood, in Bristol Township.

County Medical Director Many immediately directed the state health officer to quarantine the property and to look after the contacts. One of the contacts, it was learned, had gone to Philadelphia and the authorities there were immediately notified. Another child, whose home is in Williamsport, was visiting the Levergoods and has since gone to her home. Authorities there have also been notified of the fact.

"There is, perhaps, little that can be done in a precautionary way," said Dr. C. W. Many, county medical director, "other than to look after matters of personal hygiene. The avoidance of large gatherings of people is another safeguard."

"There is no reason for any panicky feeling about the situation," said Dr. Many. "The number of cases in the state is a reasonable number for this season of the year. The last figures I had showed 20 for the month of August."

MAKING 'ISSUE' CLEAR

Editor, Bristol Courier.

Aug. 30, 1927.

Dear Sir:

Your editorials of the past few weeks have sure been making things quite clear for the people of Bristol.

For quite some time our friend the "Independent" seemed to hold the field as far as editorials were concerned. They sure WERE full of "fire." How we did all look for Friday to come so we could get all "warmed" up. But now I know who put the "dent" in Independent.

Anyone who is not completely blind could see this fire question is not the "issue" that some few people here in town would like to make it. Five fire companies with a possible "sixth" already looming in the sixth ward for a town the size of Bristol WAS an "issue." But Council did a sensible thing when it decided after careful thought and expert advice and decided that one first-class semi-paid company was enough; it settled that as an issue.

In view of the work of this present Council, as constituted, and the work they have done and are doing for Bristol, who else could be any sensible person vote for without showing ingratitude? The older residents of Bristol can surely see the results of these men's work, in the matter of town betterments: water supply, sewerage system, schools, roads, traffic control, taxes, and the town's credit rating, public health and safety.

What more could a voter want than he gets in Bristol? Now is the chance for the true lovers of Bristol, who really have the town's interests at heart, to show their colors. Vote for those who have the future of Bristol at heart, and not those who are forever having a "hot" issue to spout about.

VISITORS MARVEL AT FACILITIES POSSESSED BY BRISTOL BOROUGH; MAKE INSPECTION TOUR OF TOWN

Guests of Courier Shown Municipal Utilities and Borough Improvements --- Improved Highways Create Much Interest

VISITORS DRIVE OVER THE NEW CANAL BRIDGE

Official and Civic Representatives Come from All Sections Of Bucks County --- Several Visit Bristol For the First Time

Convinced that Bristol is a thriving municipality and that this Borough is the metropolis of Bucks County; that her municipal welfare is guided by those who are imbued with civic love and a desire to properly shape the borough's destiny, representative citizens of Bucks County wended their way homeward last night after making a minute inspection of Bristol and her municipal facilities.

The out-of-town visitors came from all sections of Bucks County. In the list were represented the burgesses of the various boroughs in the County, representatives of the county press, official and civic representatives of the boroughs of Quakertown, Perkasio and Sellersville, together with the members of kindred organizations in Bristol.

The guests assembled at the Community House yesterday afternoon at 3.30 upon the invitation of the Courier. This invitation originated in an editorial discussion in the Quakertown Free Press, Quakertown, in which those in charge of that borough's advancement and progress were advised to visit Kutztown, Berks County, that they might see at first hand what a wonderful-benefita well lighted business section is to any community.

The Courier advised the editor of the Free Press to see Bucks County first. "Come to Bristol and see what our lighting system is like; come to Bristol and see our improved streets, new bridge, municipal water works and municipal sewage plant; come to Bristol and see all of our municipal improvements and learn of Bristol's attractions, advantages and progress."

The invitation was accepted and Editor Meredith came down with a representation distinguished not only for its numbers, but its calibre of citizenship, as well. He brought along delegates from his neighboring communities of Perkasio and Sellersville, and others along the route joined the caravan.

Starting at the Community House the visitors guided by Chief of Police John J. McGuckin, proceeded to visit the various borough utilities. First the water works was visited and here Borough Engineer John S. Roberts, Jr., explained the intricate system by which raw river water taken from the Delaware is purified into one which meets all requirements of eminent health authorities. The three methods of pumping water—electricity, gasoline and steam—was explained and the recently installed gasoline units were put into operation and it was demonstrated how in an emergency, simply by the turn of a button, great pumping pressure can be set into action.

The sewage disposal plant and sewage pumping station were seen and Bristol's method of disposing of house drainage was exhibited at first hand.

Proceeding from this point over Otter, Bath, to Beaver street, the guests were taken via Garden street to Jefferson avenue, thence to Prospect, viewed the U. S. Federal Building and proceeded to the newly constructed bridge over the canal at Beaver street. The cars passed over the bridge and the guests took a good look at this wonderful improvement which is now nearly completed.

The municipal building was next visited and here the delegation went from room to room, asking questions and examining carefully the details of arrangements. They were of one accord in the opinion that communities far larger than Bristol are unable to point to any such plan for the co-ordination of a municipality's government.

Harriman Hospital was visited and through the courtesy of Dr. George T. Fox the visitors went through this institution and the questions asked only tended to show the keen interest manifested on the part of all. A group photograph was taken on the hospital lawn.

Proceeding via Wilson avenue the next stop was made at the high school and here again those from outside of Bristol learned of its progress and development.

From this point the delegation returned to the point of starting and a repast was served after which there was an exchange of felicitations and greetings which lasted until 9.30. Bristol's boulevard lighting system was then the attraction and viewed with much interest by the guests as they proceeded to their homes located in other communities in lower, central and upper Bucks County.

A feature of exceptional interest to the visitors was that of highway improvement in which direction Bristol and lower Bucks county have made such marked progress. Anticipating this interest the Courier extended invitations to Hon. Clarence J. Buckman, chairman of Roads Committee of State Senate; D. C. Stackpole, District Engineer of Pennsylvania State Highway Department; W. J. McCahan, superintendent of State Roads in Bucks County; Ernest H. Harvey, President of Board of Commissioners of Bucks County, in order that the various plans of county and State co-operation with local communities could be explained as the means by which much of the improvement in Bristol and other sections of lower Bucks county have been brought about.

Burgess Clifford L. Anderson acting as chairman extended the greetings on the part of Bristol to the guests. He was followed by Joseph R. Grundy, chairman of Public Works Committee, who traced the development and growth of Bristol from the time that William Penn landed on these shores.

Mr. Grundy enumerating the assets of Bristol told how the water works was purchased for $112,000 and with the additional expenditure of about $50,000 was valued under the Public Service Commission plan at $468,000 as of January 1st of the current year. "Our sewer system has a value of $462,000," he said. "Storm water sewers, $81,000 and bridges exclusive of the Beaver street one which you viewed this afternoon are worth $40,000." The estimated value of the town's highways was given as $571,000; wharves, $40,000 and Bristol has $80,000 in the borough sinking fund.

"Summed up," Mr. Grundy said, "the town's assets totalled roughly $1,750,000, with an outstanding indebtedness of about $258,000 or a net value of approximately $1,500,000."

"Our town, gentlemen," said Mr. Grundy, "consisting of about 13,000 population, is operated on a budget of about $80,000 annually, and our tax rate is 11 mills on an assessed valuation of $7,500,000, the lowest tax rate of any town in the State of Pennsylvania comparable with Bristol."

The water works earns a revenue of $55,000 yearly and our citizens are enjoying practically the same rates of water rents as they did 15 years ago, despite the increased costs of labor and every other commodity entering into the operation of the plant today.

Borough Solicitor Howard L. James responded, and in his usual forcible manner sketched the trials and difficulties which had attended every improvement and betterment done in behalf of the Borough since his association with the solicitorship. "It has been a case of fight, fight always," he said. "And we are still fighting today to do those things which we deem best (Continued on Page Four)

LABOR DAY

Each recurring Labor Day presents new and impressive thoughts which challenge the attention of intelligent men and women. Were it not for honest and honorable labor the world, indeed, long since would have sunk to despairing depths.

Time was when labor was a chattel, to be bought and sold like so many oxen or sheep. Men were sold into servitude, to be chained to their cars at the galleys, or set to arduous tasks in mines. Men no longer are slaves to be ruled over by an autocracy of power and since the fetters long since were broken, the laboring man stands forth at this moment free and independent. That he plays a conspicuously important part in the affairs of the whole world is an acknowledged fact.

Labor Day affords time for reflection upon the subject which is uppermost in the minds of people on this particular occasion, just as Thanksgiving Day, Memorial Day, Christmas and other holidays give opportunity to pause for a brief space of time for thought upon specific events.

Labor in the United States holds a very strong position in the affairs of the nation. The workman in America is much better off today than the workman in any other country. This thought ought to be kept in mind all of the time, especially when the whispers of discontent come from those who would disrupt such organizations as the American Federation of Labor and turn it over to unprincipled leadership. The outstanding danger which seems to beset American labor today, as it has for many years, is the disposition which sometimes flares up in the form of organized discontent with this, that or the other things.

No one in this country has everything that he wants, or enjoys to the fullest his greatest ambitions. If a perfect condition existed, we would be close to the millennium, and no person with common sense believes that the day of perfection is here. As one compares conditions which exist today with conditions among workmen a half century or a quarter century ago it is not surprising that there should come a universal satisfaction over the progress that has been made.

It still remains true that the vast majority of people are obliged to work for a living, and work hard for what they get, but as Herrick, the poet, so aptly says: "If little labor little are our gains; Man's fortunes are according to his pains."

There comes as a result of honest and efficient service rendered to those by whom we are employed, a greater satisfaction than the mere pay envelope possibly can bring. The workman who can stand before some huge piece of construction and view with pride what he has given to make this building a complete and substantial mark of progress, has demonstrated his love for his job. The man who does a day's work and goes home without the slightest degree of pleasure in having done a big job in a big way, has lost the point about happiness.

The world's richest man has not arrived yet, because he still has to perfect a drink at the soda fountain that will do wonders for the complexion.

More folks would want to live to be too if they could be sure no one would ask them how they did it.

STATE NEWS

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 3.—There is a prospect of a greater field of foreign and American craft than ever before has been assembled in one regatta for the 1927 Gold Cup regatta on the Detroit River, September 3-6.

Three big races are proving the magnets to draw a splendid field of speedboats to Detroit for the September regatta.

The three big events are the 151 cubic inch class for the National trophy, the 1½ litre class, which already has attracted foreign boats and the international 100-mile sweepstakes.

The 1½ litre race has four foreign entries, two from England and a pair from Germany, while America will have its full quota of three boats racing. Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kreuger's Sigfrid V. and Sigfrid VI. are the German boats. Count E. Johnson-Noad's Miss Betty, and Mrs. M. B. Carstari's News, are those of Great Britain. America's team may include J. H. Rand's Little Spit Fire of the Buffalo Launch Club; Com. Gar Wood's new boat; and Tommy Milton's Little Shadow.

In the 151-cubic inch class for the national trophy, to be run on the opening day of the meet, there is prospect for a very heavy entry. Fred Thompson, who attended both the Peoria and Houston meeting and races of the M. V. P. B. A., as the Detroit Gold Cup representative, names the following boats as likely starters: Miss California, owned by Dick Loynes, Long Beach, Cal.; Baby Ruth, owned by Otto Schnering, Chicago, Ill.; Boots 11, owned by Willard Waugh of Peoria, Ill.; Spit Fire VI., owned by J. H. Rand of the Buffalo Launch Club; Miss Westchester, owned by C. P. Hammond, of Larchmont, N. Y.; Miss Buckeye, owned by Gibson Bradfield of Buckeye Lake U. Y. C. and Miss Massachusetts, owned by L. T. Savage of Boston. Points in this race will count on the Elgin trophy contest for 1927, and the course will be 2½ miles.

For the 150-mile sweepstakes all of the gold cup boats are eligible and it is hoped to secure the entry of Gar Wood's three crafts now being built for the gold cup race, Dr. S. B. Smith's new challenger from Cleveland, A. T. Walbridge's freak craft, Pirate, Shadow V., Hotli Totli and Greenwhit Folly.

SIoux CITY WOMAN IS HONORED AS SALESWOMAN

Selling automobiles, generally regarded as a business restricted exclusively to men, is the latest field to be invaded successfully by a woman, who has even shown her ability to out-shine her masculine competitors.

Mrs. Pearl Bollig, of Sioux Falls, S. D., the first saleswoman in the United States to achieve the honor of membership in the Chevrolet Motor Company's 72-Car Club, a star saleswoman's organization, has just been awarded her second year's membership, marking her as one of the foremost sales experts among the company's 14,000 salesmen. This record means that since August 1, 1926, Mrs. Bollig sold 72 Chevrolet cars, an average of six cars monthly, and has duplicated her sales performance of the year previous, which first gave her a much-coveted place in the honor organization of the company.

Occupied with the manifold cares of a housewife, with two growing boys to look after, Mrs. Bollig's career as a Chevrolet saleswoman began with the purchase of a Chevrolet sedan for her personal use, back in 1923.

"I liked the car, and so did my friends," said Mrs. Bollig. "Then I thought I should be able to please others with the car, because of my own pleasure in its ownership. I applied for a position with a Sioux Falls Chevrolet dealer and assisted in the Chevrolet booth during the auto show that year. I interested many school teachers, who found it a novel experience, probably, to learn how to drive a car from another woman, and many business men bought cars from me. This was the first sales experience I have ever had and my enthusiasm for selling continued."

"Any woman who starts out to sell automobiles will succeed if she so conducts herself as to command the respect and confidence of everyone in her community. It is no job for a woman seeking excitement or a lark. It's hard work."

"I let nothing interfere with my work, although I never neglect my home and children. And I don't wait to let buyers come to me—I hunt them up by going from house to house. When I gain their confidence, closing the sale is not so difficult, once the prospect has overcome his or her doubts about dealing with a saleswoman."

Mrs. Bollig will be an honored guest at a banquet to be tendered members of the Chevrolet 72-Car Club in the district including Sioux Falls.

CHEVROLET LEADS CARS IN REGISTRATION LIST

Figures just released show that for the seventh consecutive month Chevrolet registrations have led every other single make of car in Wayne county, Michigan, in which Detroit is the leading center.

During July just ended Chevrolet not only topped every other make of car by registering 935 passenger models, but also led the list of truck registrations with 106 commercial cars, an increase of more than 100 per cent over Chevrolet's own high mark in July, 1926.

Commenting on these records, R. H. Grant, vice-president in charge of sales, declared that "Chevrolet's consistent leadership is a definite tribute to the public's utter confidence in and appreciation for our cars."

"It is especially significant that Wayne county should show this overwhelming preference for Chevrolets. Wayne county is the center of the industry. The people here live on and work in the automobile factories. They are motor wise. They do not put their stamp of approval on a car unless they believe that it represents the utmost in motor car value."

Chevrolet factories, Mr. Grant said, are continuing their record-setting pace by turning out more than 3,500 units daily, so fast that by the middle of August the entire output for 1926 was expected to be passed.

FOOTBALL FANS LOOK FORWARD TO FINE SEASON

The football fans of this town and vicinity and especially the loyal rooters of the Bristol A. A. gridders, will have an opportunity of seeing some real football when the Blue and Gold warriors kick off in their 1927 season.

The local organization has become a member of the new Buxmont Football League, and will play a schedule of eight games with the play-off series additional if Bristol wins their section of the league.

The League will be divided into two sections with Doylestown, New Hope, Yardley, Bristol and either Souderstown or Lansdale comprising this section, while the upper end will be comprised of Pottstown, Royersford, Phoenixville, Ambler and Conshohocken, the winner of each section playing for the championship.

This league should afford real competition as each team is about evenly matched.

The games will be played on the home and away basis with each club playing two games with each other.

The schedule will be announced at a later date.
